

ARGENTA SILVER

A focused silver exploration company committed to advancing projects in Latin America that support the global energy transition.

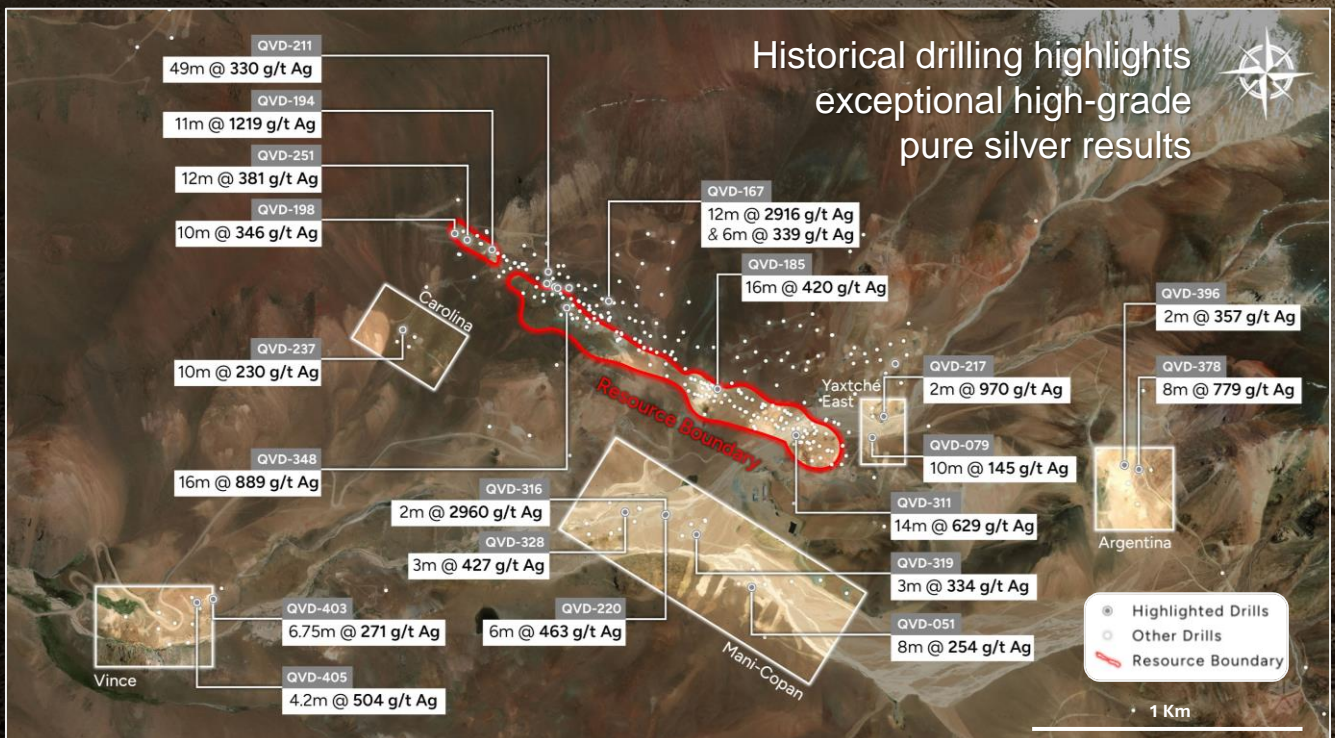

During October 2024, Argenta Silver Corp., lead by investor and entrepreneur Frank Giustra, acquired El Quevar Project in pro-mining Salta Province, Argentina.

El Quevar is a pure silver play, the third largest undeveloped silver deposit of Argentina and one of the highest-grade mineral resource estimate of the world.

The main deposit is still open down plunge and the untapped potential for resource expansion remains an opportunity. Adjacent targets have proven the extension of the mineral system.

Located over one of the major South American structural corridors, at 4 hours drive from Salta City, the mining claim covers 57,000 hectares, with only a 4% of it explored.

Existing infrastructure includes a fully-operational camp for 100 workers, over 60 km of internal roads, buildings and warehouses, and a nearby gas-pipeline for mining use, national roads, a railroad, power lines and solar farms.

Argenta Silver Corp. takes a disciplined, strategic approach to growth. Frank Giustra, CEO of the Fiore Group, mining legend and entrepreneur is a founder member and the major shareholder of the company.
